NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Fire was discovered in the saltery line between Leon to-night while the vessel is lying at her dock place, 19 East River. The steamer arrived this morning from Galveston with a cargo of cotton. The fire spread furiously, illuminating the lower part of the pier and the adjacent buildings. The fire is burning at the bow of the vessel. It is estimated that the loss on the steamer and cargo will be $150,000, if not more than that figure. The crew were asleep on the vessel when the fire was discovered, but they were taken off without sustaining any injury.

L A P H A M

JUNCTION.

London, Oct. 22.

"No mechanic need be without a job if he is willing to work, and fit for his work," said a brawny mechanic to me yesterday evening down at Clapham Junction, that queer locality in the British Capital, where so many of its laboring men live.

"The fact is," he continued, "that business of all kinds seems pushing, and he who is right and has got an arm on him can earn good wages. Why, I'll come near taking my $3 ($10) this week, and I have taken $2 10s for a good while. No, we have nothing to complain of, and I've taken care of my family in a prime way."

"Let me see," I said, "you are a carpenter, and take from $10 to $15 dollars a week for nine hours work a day, and extra for overtime."

"I do not know anything about dollars, but I get nine pence an hour for time work, and can make more than a shilling an hour by the piece, and its a nasty week when I do not take two $3 ($10) or more."

"Are you not an exception to the rule?"

"Not at all. Bricklayers, masons and other mechanics make fully as much, because the price per hour is regulated by the trades societies, but when it is possible all classes of work is let out by the piece, and then it depends upon a man's skill and industry how much he makes, but there are very few chances worth having that cannot take from $2 up if they choose to."

After much careful inquiry I had already ascertained the facts which this strong workman put so clearly. There is a wonderful improvement in the condition of all classes of working people here, and the demand for skilled labor can hardly be satisfied, even in what most people would call this overcrowded metropolis.

You no longer find the hundreds of poor wretches sleeping at night in Trafalgar square, and in the day time in the park. Only three years ago when I spent six weeks poring over the mysteries of this wonderful town, that was one of the worst places in the world.

It is no longer there, and there are more bright faces on the street and general testimony to the fact that the people who work can get good wages now. It is quite the most powerful evidence of that fact is that it is next to impossible now to get a young man to enlist in the army, and the government is at the moment all classes of appeals for recruits with very few responses. It has reduced the term of enlistment to three years, and the army is constantly making regulations calculated to attract the young men of the land to the service. If they were to distress it is quite likely that handsome clothes and a life of comparative ease in the army would be the lot of many a man who is getting work at good wages now, and the army is next to their last thought.

I have been told that the condition of the working people is so good that they are getting work at good wages now, and the army is next to their last thought.

THE MAFIA'S CRUSADE.

TWENTY-NINE MURDERS CHARGED TO ITS ACCOUNT IN NEW ORLEANS.

Only One Case Where the Criminal Was Brought to Justice—Domination of Assassination—The Italians Overlaid by a Band of Scoundrels, Who Enacted Tributes From Merchants.

THE recent assassination of Supt. D. C. Hennessy, the head of the New Orleans police force, and the fact that all the testimony thus far secured goes to show that it was committed by a band of hired assassins, has aroused a deep feeling throughout all classes in New Orleans.

At first this feeling was directed against the entire Italian population, and for a day or two a riot was feared in which an indiscriminate fall to the sword would be made upon Italians generally.

But the frenzy into which the people were at first thrown soon passed, and was succeeded by a calm determination to hunt down the murderers and extirpate the system of murder imported from Italy.

Twenty-nine murders were charged to the account of the Mafia, the criminal society which has been passing its time in the city for many years, and followed at intervals more or less regular by the lower class of Italians, or the Dagoes, as they are more nearly every case in which an Italian was the victim the silent victim was employed. It made no noise, the victim raised no outcry, and the witnesses were dumb, terror of the consequences or obligation to their fellows keeping them quiet. The first case in the police records in which other than a Mafia man was the victim was in 1856, when a young creole named Sufferance interferred in a quarrel between Italians and was raised and descended and Sufferance was killed by the Mafia.

AN OPEN LETTER.

It may be surprising, but nevertheless a fact, that owing to the large operations of the owners of Rose Hill subdivision, and the acquiring of property by the acre and subdividing the same into lots, they are enabled to sell at prices which are at least twenty-five per cent lower than that of property in the immediate vicinity.

Therefore, if you contemplate purchasing a lot for investment, or speculation, or securing a home site, do not fail to take advantage of the above opportunity and find out the price, terms, conditions and general facilities for reaching Rose Hill.

The property is located two blocks West of Union Avenue, one block South of Easton and one block North of Page Avenue. At present it is directly reached by the extension of the Easton Avenue Cable.

Our Agent is on the ground, at the branch office, from nine A.M. to six P.M. every day, till November 5, and will be pleased to give any information desired.

For Plats and prices, call upon

ALL SENATORS NOT RICH.

THESE ARE THREE POOR MEN TO ONE MILLIONAIRE IN THE SENATE.

There are in the Upper House Ten Millionaires, Fifteen Men Who Are Well Off, Twenty Eight in Moderate Circumstances and Thirty Who Depend on Their Salaries for a Living.

Special Correspondence of SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30. It has become a very common practice among those politicians who are always expecting to see the country go to the dogs—that there are all pessimists who never tire of telling us how much better a and purer and nobler the future would be than the present is now—than the country has become a mere body of millionaires; that money is the ruling power in Senatorial elections and that it governs the actions of the Senate.

The best way to refute this story is to call the roll of the Senate and see how many of its members can answer to the title of millionaire, for if money be the controlling power there is not a Senator who, in six years' term, might not well himself for enough to make him eligible to the title.

Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island is a merchant pretty well off though by no means a millionaire. He might retire and live upon what he has, I suppose, so we may set him down as a rich man.

Senator Allen of Washington is a young and active lawyer with a neat money-making Senate. The office pays $5,000 a year more than the Senatorial salary. Senator

Allen of Massachusetts, who is a poor man, wanted the place, but Senators Teller, Manderson and others said: "No; Cullison is poorer than Allen; let's give the place to Cullison." It looked as if Senator Cullison was going to be chosen when, one day, he heard about Senator Ingalls' struggle with poverty and questioned him about it. "Yes," said the Senator from Kansas, "I am poorer than you are, for your children are grown and provided for, but my five youngsters are just growing up and I can not raise money enough to educate them as I wish to." Senator Ingalls frankly asked for the office because he needed the salary and Senator Culison went as once to his friends saying he had found a man poorer than himself. Senator Ingalls was selected.

Senator Davis of Virginia is by no means a rich man. His most fruitful source of income, after his Senatorial salary, is the sale of the well known law books of which he is the author, but that is not enough even to make him rich.

Senator Davis of Minnesota has nothing laid away. Senator Davis of Massachusetts is a very poor man. I do not know about Senator

Dixie, but I understand he is only moderately well off. Senator Dolph of Oregon was once a rich man, but suffered a severe loss in the failure of a bank, and among other things he lost a heavy stockholder.

Senator Edmunds makes a handsome income from his practice as an attorney and may be set down as a rich man, but he will never have to think about buying a seat in the Senate until Vermont goes out of the Union.

Senator Evans has a capital law practice, but it is said he lives up to his income.

SENATOR KUTZ

of Louisiana is well off. Senator Farwell of West Virginia is in comfortable circumstances. Senator Foster of Maine is a man who gives no thought to money-making—doesn't care for a fortune, and so, of course,

Senator George is a poor man. Many a department clerk lives on a much higher shelf than he does.

Senator Gibson of Louisiana and Senator

Gorman of Maryland are both well off. Senator Gray of Delaware is in fair circumstances as a result of his good law practice.

Senator Hale married a very wealthy lady, the daughter of the late Zachary Chandler.

Senator Harris of South Carolina is a very poor man. He has positively nothing. Should his salary as Senator cease he would be in the land of poverty.

Senator Harris of Tennessee, though not a very rich man, owns a rather profitable mulberry farm in Tennessee. Senator Hawley of Connecticut, who not long ago suffered some serious losses by good-naturedly lending his name, is said to be a poor man.

SENATOR HEARD

of California is as rich as mud. He says he cannot remember the income was less than $1,000 a day. He could buy three or four fresh Legislatures every year if he wanted to and they were for sale.

Senator Higgins of Delaware has but a small store of this world's goods.

Senator Hisscock of New York has one fortune and wife has another. Senator Hoar of Massachusetts is a poor man. He is said to keep up an establishment in Washington and leaves his family, therefore, at home.

SENATOR HODGES

of Nevada—I haven't heard of him since this morning. At that time he was supposed to be rich. He is a speculator every day in the week—eight or nine days each week. Like the Irishman's son, when you put your hand on him he isn't there.

Some days he is up in a balloon and some days he is down in a well, where even trust is said to lie, but where Senator Jones refuses to lie.

SENATOR KENNEDY

of West Virginia has a neat little home here of his own, but is not a rich man. Senator McMillin of Michigan is one of the millionaires. Senator McPherson of New Jersey may be put in the same category.

SENATOR MANDERSON

of Nebraska borrowed some money and erected some buildings in Omaha a few years ago, and the rentals have more than paid the mortgage. The value of the property has so increased as to make him fairly well off. Senator Mitchell of Iowa is pretty well off, and Senator Mo-nderson of South Dakota is in comfortable circumstances.

SENATOR MORGAN

of Alabama is poor. Senator Morrill of Vermont is not, nor yet is he very wealthy. Senator Padonok of Nebraska owns land out there and not much else.

SENATOR PASCO

of Florida has perhaps the best law practice in his state, and is well off.

SENATOR PUGH

of Ohio is rich. Senator Fattigard of South

Dakota is a money-maker, and has done well in lands and railroad enterprises in his state.

Fate intended Senator Fenton of North Dakota to scratch a poor man's head, and the Senator has no disposition to quarrel with fate or with anybody else. Senator Platt of Connecticut has a home in Meriden and little besides. Senator Plumb of Kansas is fairly well off. Senator Power of Montana is fairly well off. Senator Quay of Pennsylvania is said to be far from rich. Senator Reagen of North Carolina has nothing but his salary. Senator Reagan of Texas is very poor—so poor that his wife was appointed as his clerk because they needed the salary. Senator Sanders of Montana is moderately well off. Senator Sawyer of Wisconsins is rich. Senator Sherman of Ohio very rich. Senator Sherman makes a great deal of money by buying and selling real estate in this city. He is a multi-millionaire.

SENATOR SHERMAN

of Wisconsin is well off.

SENATOR SQUIRE

of Washington is not a poor man.

SENATOR STANFORD

of California could buy

Legislatures as fast as they might come and still have enough left to make a pretty fair bid for a national convention if he were to do it. He never draws his salary, but gives it to his private secretary.

SENATOR STEWART

of Nevada is said to be a poor man, notwithstanding the fact that he is a millionaire.

SENATOR TELLER

of Colorado, Turpie of Indiana, Vance of North Carolina, Vest of Missouri, Voorhees of Indiana, and Walcott of Mississippi, are all poor.

SENATOR WASHBURN

of Minnesota was in a bad strait about the time he was elected, but his affairs are now much better, and he may once more be called a rich man. Senator Washburn near the millionaire line once was.

SENATOR WILSON

of Maryland has but little.

Senator Wilson of Iowa has some property, but not much.

SENATOR WILSON

of Iowa will have to make money very fast if he is ever to become wealthy, for he is the embodiment of generosity and re-lucence. He is a good lawyer and has plenty of practice when at home, but he spends all he makes and more, too, for his brother Frederick and his children. They are all poor.

For the purpose of recapitulation it is convenient to separate the Senators into four classes—the millionaires, the rich men, the men in comfortable circumstances and the poor men. Now, of the sixty-four Senators there are, possibly eleven, who belong to the millionaire class. Of the class of rich men—that is, those who are not moderately wealthy, but who are more than moderately well off—there are fifteen or sixteen. Of the class of men who do not rely entirely on their salaries, but have a little something saved up, there are twenty-eight; while of the po-
